

Are you ready for your next adventure in team development?

Whether on the world's highest mountain, or in an organization striving for ever greater heights, high-performance teams are:

- aligned by clearly defined goals & guiding principles
- share appreciation for their interdependent roles
- make tough decisions under time-pressure, in spite of information complexity and ambiguity

TeamEverest is an interactive multi-media learning program that immerses participants in the true story of Canadian's most historical mountaineering expedition to the summit of Everest, attempting to support the first North American woman to the top of the world.

Your adventure awaits for what is:

- a relevant and memorable team development workshop as participants are spirited away on an exciting adventure while working to create a more effective organization.
- customizable to focus discussions on addressing key challenges being faced by your organization or your particular team.

Our tool kit of organizational effectiveness approaches will anchor your participants' insights with relevant applications to improved dynamics in their workplace roles.

Some of their exercises that stand out over the years include the Team Everest simulation that served as a backdrop during our two-day leadership forum with the Home Depot's Supply Chain management group. I am sure you will also enjoy the benefits of their capabilities in providing team effectiveness, leadership development or organization change learning programs. CFO - The Home Depot

TeamEverest will drive leadership messages deep into your organization through engaging personal and team application of this powerful metaphor:

- Highly flexible: customizable in half or full-day
- Fully interactive and consistently motivational
- Stunning imagery, video & sound from Everest
- Hones effective leadership behaviours and team decision-making capabilities
- Strengthens alignment and commitment to strategic initiatives and organizational values

We all came away feeling thoroughly motivated, encouraged, more experienced, more knowledgeable and empowered to act. In large part this was due to the Team Everest challenge and the way you worked with us to link that into our particular challenges.

...client thanks from VP Sales & Marketing - Festo Inc